

#CHEGADETRABALHOINFANTIL

Child labor is a topic that always provokes a lot of discussion but, in the end, the truth is one: child was not made to work. Even worse, in addition to depriving himself of the joy of a normal childhood, most of the time the young worker is forced to drop out of school - that is, it can impair his intellectual development and lose opportunities in adulthood.

The “#ChegadeTrabalhoInfantil” campaign is an initiative of the Ministério Público do Trabalho, an arm of the Ministério Público da União that monitors compliance with labor laws and mediates relations between employees and employers.

In addition, the MPT works to defend the rights and interests of children, young people, the incapacitated and the indigenous in situations related to labor relations.

Yescom is supportive of the cause of the eradication of child labor, a problem that affects a large number of children, depriving them of the right to education, leisure and healthy growth.
